Glencairn™

In the long and illustrious history of whisky, there has never been a single definitive glass that the whisky world could call its own. Wine, Champagne, Brandy, each has its own recognizable glass associated with it. Over the years, whisky has been served in anything from shot glasses to wine glasses.

Now following in the tradition of Scottish innovation, The Glencairn Glass has arrived. Combining the knowledge and expertise of some of the whisky world's leading innovators, The Glencairn Glass' roots lie in the traditional nosing glasses used by master blenders and connoisseurs around the world.

The crystal and glass specialist, Glencairn Crystal of Scotland who has an intimate knowledge of the whiskey world's needs and requirements, brought together the industries biggest companies to create a glass for the whisky industry, by the whisky industry.
